The event aims to provide an opportunity for all to talk on the pertinent issues and concerns and a way ahead to find suitable solutions. The path to infrastructure development brings forth numerous thought provoking challenges and opportunities that fuels the growing need for harmony between economic growth, environment regulations and sustainable development which has now grown as an integral aspect of trade and is witnessed by all enterprises/institutions of the world. The conference focuses on the current environmental debates revolving around the problem of balancing the environmental concerns with the needs of the growing economy and infrastructural development in the country.

The event is dedicated towards discussion of topics like environment clearances, wildlife and forest laws with emphasis on environment impact assessment, infrastructure development and social impact assessment, pollution laws, role of private companies, financing of infrastructure projects and environment safeguards and also how US is tackling various issues and lessons to be learnt from them.

Prominent environmentalists, social impact assessment experts, legal luminaries active in environment lawyering, experts from leading corporate and infrastructure companies, US Embassy, International Financial Corporation (“IFC”), The Energy Resources Institute (“TERI”), will be actively participating to talk about the faceoff between economic growth and environment policies. They are confirming their presence ... are you ready?

We hope that the conference will be a platform for exchange of ideas and knowledge relevant to the concern towards sustainability. It should also facilitate formulation of conclusions, assessment of the impact of infrastructure development on the environment and measures to be taken for avoiding a faceoff.

We look forward to your active participation.
